BOOK 4

SAFINA SIMI

As ken and Ava moved on into the depths of the enchanting forest, they came across a tree alive with bustling activity, filled with laughter and playful banters. Their curiosity piqued, they approached the source of the commotion. High amidst the branches, a family of squirrels rushed over and leaped, their fluffy tails swinging through the air like vibrant flags. Among them, the youngest squirrel named Sammy noticed ken and Ava's presence and ran down the tree to greet them.

"Hello there!" Sammy exclaimed, mischievous sparks twinkling in his eyes. "Are you here to partake in our acorn-gathering adventures?" Excitement sparkled in Ken and Ava's eyes as they exchanged glances. Squirrels and their incredible agility had always fascinated them.
